All doubt about a joint canvass of the Fourth Congressional District by Congressman E. W. Pou, regular Democratic nominee to succeed himself, and R. A. P. Cooley, of Nash, Independent Democratic candidate, with the Republican indorsement, is removed by a card just issued by Congressman Pou, formally accepting the challenge of Mr. Cooley for the joint canvass. Congressman Pou expresses his willingness to meet Mr. Cooley in person and arrange the joint canvass, or leave the details to the chalrmen of the Democratic and Republican committees. The latter course will hardly be followed, as Mr. Cooley will insist that he is an independent Democrat and that the Republicans mercly indorsed him rather than carry on a three-cornered campaign. The district includes Wake, Nash, Johnston, Franklin, Vance and Chatham counties.

Sheriff Who Deposited It Sued to Make Refund of Judgment.

Whether or not money paid to an officer in satisfaction of a Judgment and deposited by him in a bank which fails, should be refunded by him, is the question involved in a suit from Mecklenburg county, in which a writ of error was allowed yesterday by the Supreme Court of Appeals.

The suit was brought in the lower lower court by the Commonwealth at the relation of J. C. Walton against W. R. Beales, sheriff, and the American Bonding Company, of Baltimore. The latter concern was included, of course, as a matter of form, since there is no allegation that the sheriff cannot discharge an obligation. Hy calms that this does not constitute an obligation. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bristol, Va., September 23.—J. H.
Arnold, the "Hollness" evangelist, arrested at Putaski a week ago, charged with having abducted and mistreated Elizabeth Collins, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Henry Collins, of Bristol, was brought here last night and to-day was given a preliminary hearing before Mayor Rice. Arnold wandismissed from custody for lack of evidence that he had mistreated the girl. The Mayor held, however, that Arnold had made fraudulent representations to her, and dismissed the evangelist with a severe eccuring.
